Now Comes Bootleg Money
Inter-Language Wanted
Vare's Better Chance
Dementia Americana

—By Arthur Brisbane—

Copyright, 1928, by Star Co.

WE HAVE with us now "bootleg money," worrying the financiers that nest in Wall Street.

"Bootleg money" comes from the West to share the plunder when "call money" is jacked up to 7 or 8 per cent, as at present.

Financial bootleggers cut the price a little and take some of the cream from those milking the stock gamblers in the holy name of "conservative speculation." New York's clearing house association held a special meeting yesterday to combat the evil.

At least a billion dollars have been sent to Wall Street from outside. You can't imagine how that hurts inside gougers that want the profits on usury for themselves.

Delegations of college men from different parts of the United States will record their voices on talking machines that scientists may study, "American dialects."

The main thing is that all of them are understood from New York to San Francisco.

In Europe, traveling 3000 miles from Oslo to the southeast, you would hear Norwegian, Swedish, Danish, German, Czecho-Slovakian, Hungarian, Rumanian, Bulgarian, Turkish, Greek, and in Egypt, Arabic, twelve different languages in a 3000-mile trip and not hear one-half the languages that Europe speaks.

Europe feels the need of an "inter-language." The sensible thing would be to make that language English, that all waiters and clerks need, and nearly all educated Europeans know.

National pride prevents that. So why not use Latin, once the universal learned language, making it possible for Erasmus to speak to Henry the Eighth; for all learned men in Europe to talk to each other through their books. Nothing could be more hideous than a made-to-order language.

Senator Vare, most powerful politician in Pennsylvania, elected to the Senate but not seated, is felled by a stroke of paralysis.

If he recovers, as doubtless he will, the Senate in all probability will give him his seat. Such is human nature. Even Jim Reed, of Missouri, relentless fighter, would find it hard to reject a man with one-half of his body paralyzed.

That shows how far we have progressed beyond the wolves. With them a wounded comrade is immediately eaten.

Delphin Delmas, Thaw's lawyer in the big murder trial, is dead. He will be remembered for his invention of the expression, "dementia Americana," to describe Thaw's state of mind.

Delmas, who lived and died in California, was the greatest criminal lawyer since the days of John McSweeney and the Star Route trials.

A Paris editor informs his readers that Governor Smith speaks four languages. Many here did not know that.

But Republican members of New York's Legislature know that Governor Smith can speak at least one language plainly. The four languages that Governor Smith is supposed by the French editor to speak are Irish, German, Yiddish and English.

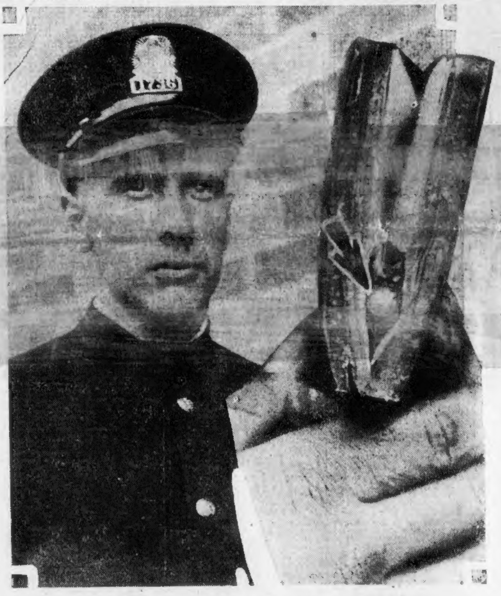
BOOK SAVES LIFE IN GUN FIGHT



OFFICER HEWEY AND THUG'S BULLET

Battling in the dark of the Rialto Theater orchestra at Roslindale, Patrolman Vaughn Hewey exchanged shots with five safe crackers and believes he wounded one. A bullet from the gun of one of the thugs landed in the police manual in the pocket of the officer, saving his life. Arrow points to bullet.

FRED STONE INJURED IN AIR DIVE

New London, Ct., Aug. 3 (AP)—Fred Stone, comedian, is in a hospital here suffering from a badly crushed right leg and injuries to his face and head sustained when a Travelair biplane, which he was flying, solo, crashed near the Groton Airport when its engine went dead.

Stone had been in the air 10 minutes and was returning to Groton flying field when the motor stopped. The plane went into a nose dive and as Stone was flying low at the time he was unable to right it and it continued down, burying its nose in the ground as it landed.

Stone was pinned in the wreckage until persons living in the vicinity and who had seen the plane falling.

92 At Noon

One person was overcome by heat today as the official mercury at the Federal Building continued its upward climb.

The heat victim was Mary [illegible] of 3 Beach st., Revere, who collapsed on the beach while bathing. She was taken to the emergency room of the State bath house and revived.

At noon the official thermometer registered 92. It had dropped one degree at 1 p. m.

The record for August 3 is 96, reached in [illegible].

The hottest August days on record were August 2, 1917, and August 7, 1924, when the maximum was 98.

A gentle southwest breeze did little to take the edge off the heat, which baked the pavements and radiated upward to the discomfort of those forced to remain in the city.

The weather men saw no relief before tomorrow afternoon or evening, however, at which time a dis-

GAS BOMBS ROUT FIVE DARING BURGLARS AT ROSLINDALE THEATER

A police riot squad bombed the Rialto Theater, Roslindale sq., with tear gas early today in a futile effort to capture five safe crackers engaged in gun battle with a lone patrolman.

One of the burglars is believed to have been wounded by Patrolman Vaughn Hewey, who nearly gave his life in the single-handed defense of the theater safe, containing between $700 and $800.

Hewey escaped death by only an inch when a 45-caliber slug from the [illegible] of a gunman lodged in a police manual which he carried in a pocket over his right breast, the impact threw him with such force against an orchestra chair that he injured his wrist and side.

When the patrolman withdrew from the battle after the arrival of the riot squad, summoned by Hewey while he was still engaged in the gun fight, the theater was filled with tear gas from bombs exploded by the reserves.

Wearing gas masks, four of the squad combed the building from cellar to roof, but the five fugitives had escaped probably immediately after realizing Hewey had succeeded in getting through his call for aid.

Patrolman Hewey discovered the rear door of the Rialto forced while on patrol of his beat in Roslindale sq. about 3 o'clock. He entered immediately, drawing his revolver, and ran crouching along the stage corridor, emerging in the orchestra near the pit.

BARBUTI WINS "400," LERMOND 4TH IN "5000"

By HARRY R. FLORY

Olympic Stadium, Amsterdam, August 3—Ray Barbuti, Syracuse University's star athlete, brought one American shield down in front in a running event in the Olympic games by winning the 400-meter final heat today.

America's first victory on the flat came almost at the conclusion of the track and field program, a program that had seen the famed runners of the United States fail in their favorite events as never before.

It came, too, in an event that had escaped America's stars of the double furlong since the 1912 games at Stockholm. Oddly enough, it was another Syracuse man, Charley Reidpath and a driving runner

POLISH FLIERS FAR OUT ON FLIGHT TO AMERICA

Paris, Aug. 3.—Two Polish aviators, Maj. Louis Idzikowski and Maj. Casimir Kubala, started from France today on the seventh transatlantic flight to be attempted this year.

They hopped off at Le Bourget field, near Paris in the biplane "Marzalek Pilsudski" at 5:49 a. m. (11:49 p. m. Thursday, Boston daylight saving time).

The naval prefecture at Lorient, on the northwestern coast of France, announced at 8:10 a. m. (2:10 a. m. Boston daylight saving time) that the steam trawler Penguin had sighted a white airplane about 60 miles off the coast traveling at an altitude of about 600 feet. This was believed to be the Polish plane. The weather was reported as foggy and stormy.

At the time the plane was sighted it had travelled approximately 370 miles from Le Bourget field and was headed due west.

The Polish fliers today, undeterred by mishaps to others this year,

TOM HEENEY SAID TO BE ON HONEYMOON TRIP

New York, Aug. 3 (INS)—Tom Heeney, erstwhile contender for the world's heavyweight championship, is honeymooning today with the former Marion Dunn of Port Washington, L. I., according to an unconfirmed report circulated today.

Heeney is said to have eloped to the little village of Ladentown, near Sufferin, N. Y., to be married by P. Margulies, justice of the peace and proprietor of the general store.

Eddie Harvey, brother of Charlie Harvey, Heeney's manager, had no warning of Tom's matrimonial plans.

"But it's a safe bet that it's true," he said. "Tom and Miss Dunn have been very friendly since he came over to America about a year ago."

Judge Margulies was called by telephone at his store in Ladentown.

"Did you marry Tom Heeney and Marion Dunn?" he was asked.

"You better ask Tom that," he replied.

"Isn't it a matter of record?"

"Not yet," was the ambiguous reply.

Heeney and his bride were reported to have sought seclusion in an apartment here which is listed in the name of Isaac Rosenblum. At that address the telephone was answered by a man with a broad English accent. It sounded suspiciously like the voice of Tom Mortimer, Heeney's trainer."

"Mr. Heeney used to live here," the voice admitted, "but at present I think he is on his way to the coast."

WALL STREET PRICE CHANGES ARE MIXED

Wall Street price changes were mixed today. U. S. Steel, General Motors and Radio ruled much of the time at concessions of 1 to 2 points, while Montgomery Ward, International Nickel and the oils made substantial headway toward higher levels.

HEAT FELLS MAN IN WASHINGTON ST.

The second heat prostration of the day was reported when Patrick Mullen, 43, single, was picked up unconscious in Washington st., near Dover, by Patrolman Lawless of Station 5. He was treated at City Hospital.

50 HUB POLICE ORDERED TO CURB MILL STRIKERS

New Bedford today made its second appeal to Greater Boston cities and towns for the loan of police to control strikers on whose part rioting and disturbances are feared tomorrow.

Boston was asked for 50 men and Supt. Crowley promptly ordered Capt. Louis Lutz, department drillmaster, to take that number of men to the mill city tomorrow, with Lieut. Thomas Kavanagh acting as his aide.

Cambridge received a message asking for 25 patrolmen and Mayor Edward W. Quinn instructed Chief of Police McBride to comply with this request. The Cambridge police, drawn from all the divisions

ROUTED BY TEAR GAS BOMBS

In the rear of the orchestra, at the foot of a spiral staircase leading to the second floor office, where Hewey knew the safe to be located, he could discern five figures just about to mount the stairs.

Gun in hand, he began creeping up the aisle when a gun blazed in the darkness and a bullet whistled above his head, embedding itself in the wall beyond the seats.

FUSILADE OF SHOTS

Still creeping forward and raising himself slightly, he fired once in the direction of the flame. The answer was a deafening roar of guns, and slugs splintered seats and chipped plaster behind him.

Realizing that each of the five was armed and that he must have help if they were to be captured, Hewey began retracing his crawl down the aisle toward a telephone, which he knew to be located at the right of the stage.

The gun battle continued as he headed for the phone, the patrolman firing six shots and the safe breakers about a score. One bullet bore through his coat, hit the manual and threw him against a chair, injuring his side and wrist.

He was later taken to City Hospital and X-rayed to determine the extent of these injuries which may include broken ribs.

Reaching the telephone, Hewey sent in his call for help and a few minutes later the playhouse was surrounded by police and floodlights were playing upon all means of exit. But in the brief interval between the phone call and the arrival of the riot squad under Sergt. Ryan the burglars had escaped.

FLED IN SEDAN

Police learned that a sedan containing five men drove away from the theater just before the squad arrived. A car believed to be the same was later reported by a patrolman in the West End, who said he recognized one of its five occupants.

A daylight checkup of bullet marks revealed but five opposite that point from which Hewey fired his six shots, lending credence to the belief that one of the thugs was wounded.

Today's break was the fifth at the Rialto Theater since it was opened. Two years ago $1000 was stolen there by robbers who cracked the safe.

INDICT CHICAGO CITY COLLECTOR AND JUDGE

Chicago, Aug. 3 (INS)—A sensational climax to Chicago's fight against election terrorism and alleged crooked elections was written today with the indictment of Morris Eller, city collector and a powerful figure in politics, and his son, Judge Emanuel L. Eller.

Father and son were named in indictments charging "general conspiracy," returned by a special election crime and fraud grand jury.

Pole Fliers Speeding to U.S.

made a fine take-off from Le Bourget.

"We may land in New York or anywhere," were Idzikowski's parting words. The fliers earlier had announced they would head for the Azores, landing there only if additional fuel were needed. If not, they said they intended flying direct to the Bermudas.

Just before the take-off Kubala expressed confidence that he and his companion would land in New York in 40 hours as they expected a northeasterly wind behind them most of the way.

First word of the plane after departure was received from Dreux, where it was sighted at 6:38 a. m. (12:38 Boston daylight time) Dreux is 58 miles west of Paris.

The plane is not equipped with radio apparatus and therefore will not be heard from directly on its flight. Radio equipment was dispensed with because of the heavy load being carried.

WITH HEAVY LOAD

Burdened with 1200 gallons of fuel, that the fliers calculated would take them more than 3600 miles without a stop, the silver gray biplane "Marzalek Pilsudski" taxied three-quarters of a mile across the field before it lifted into the air.

Idzikowski was at the controls. A huge crowd that had been waiting at the field for several hours cheered wildly as the plane rose in the air and headed southwest for the coast.

Weather conditions for the flight were ideal. Kubala, acting as navigator, sat next to Idzikowski in one of the two open cockpits. The plane is not cabin-enclosed.

After leaving the field the plane made a wide detour, avoiding the suburbs of Paris.

CARRY CHAMPAGNE

For provisions the fliers carried a dozen chicken sandwiches, two thermos bottles of coffee and six bottles of champagne. They said they expected to consume the champagne en route "so as not to violate the United States prohibiton law."

Both aviators have had long experience. During the early part of the war they fought on opposite sides, Idzikowski fighting in the Russian armies and Kubala on the side of Austria. Both learned flying during the war and joined the Polish air force when Poland became an independent country.

Their flight is sponsored by the Polish Government and follows months of intensive preparation.

Their plane is named in honor of Marshal Pilsudski, Poland's premier.

HAVE RUBBER BOAT

"Nitchevo" was the last word Idzikowski spoke to friends at the take off. This Russian expression, equivalent to "Well, what of it," seemed to sum up the attitude of the fliers toward their hazardous adventure.

Their only precaution for safety was a collapsible rubber boat, which, they said, probably would prove useless if they crashed.

Idzikowski wore a leather coat over street clothes. Kubala wore light dungarees.

One slight incident delayed the start when an oil reservoir filled too full and overflowed, drenching the pilot's seat. Six mechanics rapidly sponged off the big plane as if it were a racehorse before a great test.

Idzikowski, who had the task of taking off, was very white in the face as he pulled down his goggles and hunched over the controls.

It seemed that the machine would never rise from the ground with its heavy load.

CROWD FEARED CRASH

"They'll never make it," cried numerous French military aviators and mechanicians.

Idzikowski, however threw himself into the work and brought the biplane off in a masterly fashion, appearing to just miss the roofs of the military hangars.

"Formidable" exclaimed Capt. Cartier in charge of the military camp.

The take-off was so swift that M. Amiot, the builder of the plane, was astounded and threw up his hands, crying:

"He must be crazy. He will crash."

But the Poles did not crash and soared away, and in two minutes were lost to sight.

Behind they left a red fire engine and an ambulance ready in case of disaster. It was the shortest run ever seen at Le Bourget for such a type of plane.

The Polish plane was escorted by five others. One carried M. Carol, chief engineer of the Lorraine factory which built the engine, the others were a military escort commanded by Major Pinecri and assigned to stay with the airmen until they were safely out to sea.

The escort returned two hours later reporting the Poles were going well when last seen.

"MASCOT" OF ROSES

Idzikowski carried with him their only mascot—three or four roses given him by a French girl friend.

When the fliers left their hotel in Paris this morning they asked the proprietor to keep their rooms just as they were until he had news of their fate.

"Leave my room just so for two or three days," Kabula said, "and then my brother will arrange my belongings.

"If I succeed I should like to return to the little room where we worked for more than a year preparing for our flight and find it as it was before our departure."

Both embraced the aged paralyzed mother of the hotel keeper, whom they termed "godmother" to their flight. She gave them both her blessing and said she was going to "pray to God to bring them good fortune."

She presented them bits of ribbon brought from a pilgrimage which she once made to Lourdes. The airmen tied these to the scapular each wears around his neck.

The aged woman later said: "They are so pious all my hopes go with them. They are both good Catholics. They never talked much, but were always kind, smiling and polite. I have seen them enter the hotel night after night. Now they are off on so dangerous a flight."

Thug's Shot Pierced 180 Pages of Book, Saving Life

A police manual of 260 pages of instruction and 40 blank pages for notes undoubtedly saved the life of Patrolman Vaughn Hewey in his gun battle with five cracksmen in the Rialto Theater, Roslindale sq., today.

The manual, in the pocket of his coat over the right breast, stopped a .45-caliber lead slug from a gunman's pistol.

The bullet pierced 180 pages of the manual and came to a stop at the page giving the location of Boston's elementary schools.

With the lead slug still imbedded in it, the manual was turned over to Superintendent Crowley and Inspector Claflin for evidence if the thugs are captured.

Polish Fliers' Plane Cream and Blue Colored

Le Bourget, France, Aug. 3 (AP)—The Marszalek Pilsudski, in which Majors Idzikowski and Kubala are flying toward America, is a sesqui plane of the S. E. C. M. Amiot type. The wings, the fuselage up to the pilots' seats and the tail are painted cream color. From the pilots' seats to the front of the wings, the fuselage is painted blue. The nose and hood of the motor are shiny steel.

Under the wings and on the tail are squares, each containing two smaller red and two smaller white squares. The design is the same as used on the French railways at grade crossings. The propeller is a metal one.

The Lorraine-Dietrich motor on which the lives of the fliers depends, is similar to that with which Pelletier-Doisy, Gonin and Vigroux made their circuit of the Mediterranean in 1927, a flight of 3800 miles in six days.

BOY FATALLY HURT BY AUTO IN SOMERVILLE

Darting out from behind an automobile that was parked in front of his home on Conwell ave., West Somerville, Daniel J. Murphy, 5, was fatally injured by an automobile operated by James E. McCabe of North st. McCabe picked the lad up and took him to a hospital. The boy later died.

While on his way to the hospital to investigate the accident, Motorcycle Officer Michael Canavan of the Somerville police and an automobile operated by Thomas F. Carroll of Crocker st., Somerville, were in collision in front of Canavan's home. Canavan was taken to the hospital and treated for severe body injuries.

TEXTILE ORGANIZER IS ARRESTED IN FALL RIVER

Fall River, Aug. 3—Peter Hagelias of Boston, local organizer of the Textile Mills Committee, radical group which has been active in the New Bedford strike, and William Seroka of 515 South Main st. were arrested for distributing circulars at the gate of the Lincoln Mill without a permit. They are charged with violation of a city ordinance.

HUB MAN SHOT BY POLICE IN DETROIT

Detroit, Aug. 3 (INS)—Jack Fieldman, 17, of Boston, Mass., was wounded twice in the shoulder today while he and a companion, Hyman Kravitz, 18, were attempting to escape from police.

Fieldman is under arrest on a charge of stealing an automobile and Kravitz is held as a deserter from the United States Coast Artillery.

Police ordered the youths to halt their car. Instead they sped away with the police in pursuit. During a chase of several miles at from 50 to 60 miles an hour police fired several shots.

When they caught the car they found Fieldman, the driver, wounded twice in the shoulder. One of the occupants escaped. Kravitz was arrested later on description.

NOW, IT'S NOT WHO'S PRETTIEST, BUT WHO IS MOST LIKE JEAN

There are 600 or so little girls—every one a darling at the Orpheum theater today for the judges in the Boston Evening American "Our Gang" contest to worry about. So many of them looked like Jean of "Our Gang" that difficulty was experienced in selecting the winner.

600 "Darlings" Compete to Be Jean Double

Six hundred beautifully dressed little girls, ranging in ages from 3 to 12, crowded the Loew's Orpheum Theater today for the selection of the double to Jean Darling in the Boston Evening American "Our Gang" resemblance contest.

Accompanied by their mothers the children were the guests of the American at the show, filling the boxes and loges, and later were taken back-stage where the judges made the selection.

Because of the large number of entrants it was decided to put the children into groups of 25, and all the judges agreed it would be a difficult task to make the selection as there were many who closely resemble Jean Darling.

BIG PIE CONTEST

It was announced that the local filming of the picture made by the six selected as doubles of "Our Gang," with the other entrants in the big scenes, will take place at Norumbega Park for Aug. 20, 21 and 22. The selection was made by one of the directors of the Hal Roach Co., because of the scenery, the zoo and other attractions which will be used in the picture.

One of the features of this picture will be a blueberry pie eating contest and bakers of New England are already preparing for it.

Henry Allen Larsen, four, only child of Christian Larsen, a Boston traffic cop, who lives at 17 Kent st., Brookline, was selected by the judges as the child who looked most like "Wheezer." Thornton Nelson Regan, four, of 20 Auburn st., Waltham, son of George E. Regan, a printer, was a close second and will understudy for the winner.

The other two members of the local "Gang" selected by the judges are John Leonard Tarlow, 10 of Gloucester, as "Fatty," and Paul R.

REVERE GIRL BIG SUCCESS AS WRECKER

The disturbing influence of woman was visited upon the Revere fire and police departments today, nearly wrecked both and at too early an hour.

It became so bad at one time that Police Chief Tighe was forced to lock himself into his private office to preserve himself from the petite chestnut-haired female that had buckled down to a systematic wrecking of the place.

A regular Carrie Nation!

The brave but sweating fire laddies were tossing uneasily in their bunks at the Freeman st. house when disturbing sounds came from below.

A bell clanged softly; a pause, and another bell jangled on the signal board. Then the hose wagon siren gave a mild experimental whine.

Reluctantly, a fireman arose and rode wearily down the brass pole, there to find a girl of about three years atop the hose wagon, experimenting with the bell.

To the astonished fireman's queries she replied with nothing but a silent stare. By now the other disturbed laddies were crawling off the hot bunks, half an hour before the regular rising time.

Eventually the chestnut-haired girl, allowed to play about the fire house, said her name was Evelyn, but she could not tell where she lived.

Eventually, also, she was taken to police headquarters, as she seemed intent on wrecking the firehouse and taking the apparatus apart.

At police headquarters she began her visit by tipping over two inkwells and disturbing generally the desk papers. Then she went to work on Chief Tighe personally, skipping blithely over his feet, shuffling up his desk and creating such a happy, to her, disturbance that he put her gently but firmly out of his office and locked the door.

At noon the police were frantically endeavoring to locate the tot's parents and were looking longingly toward the heavy-doored cells.

Evelyn was still devilin'.

Henry Allen Larsen of Kent st., Brookline, who won the honor of being declared the "Wheezer" double in "Our Gang" contest. He's all set to take part in the local movie as one of the principals. He also has a chance in the final judging of the six, to choose the winner of the big prize.

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN GENERAL NEWS SECTION

BOSTON, FRIDAY, AUGUST 3, 1928

TELLS HOW GIRL AND TWO MEN ROBBED HIM

Peter McGinnis, of Brockton, in Quincy district court today told the story of how a blonde girl and two young men robbed him and beat him up on the Blue Hills parkway in Milton early Wednesday.

Peter told an interesting story, revealing several facts before unknown to the public, and when he had finished Judge Avery found probable cause for holding Rita Coslelka, 19, and blonde, of Hyde Park, and John F. Coakley and John A. McLellan, of Roslindale, for the Grand Jury.

The trio, accused by McGinnis, was charged with robbery.

Arrayed in a "heavy college" sweater, Peter took the stand and told his story and was not abashed in the light of some strange admissions drawn from him during cross-examination.

Tuesday evening and until about 1:40 Wednesday morning, Peter said he was in the company of Dorothy Benazzi of Hyde Park sq. Previous to meeting her he had left his [illegible] at coat in the grass, for the night was warm.

When the evening had been spent, Peter accosted two strangers in Hyde Park and borrowed a quarter for his and Dorothy's carfare to Dorothy's home, he admitted. Yes, he told the court, he had $8 in his pocket—the $8 subsequently stolen from him—but he didn't want the girl to know he had it.

Later in Mattapan sq. along came an automobile with a blonde girl and two men in it, seeking the road to Brockton. Peter volunteered to show them and climbed in.

When they had driven 200 feet into the parkway, Peter said he was ordered out of the car by Coakley, who shoved a gun against him and robbed him of the $8.

Medieval Relics Dug Up in France, Says Cambridge Society

(By Associated Press)

The uncovering of the portal of the half-buried abbey church of Cluny in France and the discovery of fragments of statuary were announced today by the Medieval Academy of America, which has its headquarters in Cambridge.

The excavations at Cluny, in the department of the Saone-et-Loire, are being conducted for the academy by Prof. Kenneth J. Conant of Harvard University in co-operation with the French government.

TROUSERS THIEF LOOTS HOMES IN BROCKTON

Brockton, Aug. 3—A pilfering piker with a penchant for trousers—preferably trousers in whose pockets parked pennies—considerably upset a section of Brockton today by entering homes without invitation.

From Fred Mont's house in Torrey st. he subtracted Mont's trousers and from them $5. From H. F. Geoghan's residence in Fairview ave. he pilfered two pairs of Geoghan's trousers and the $31 they contained.

From Geoghan's he went to the home of Miss Eugenia C. Barns, also in Torry st., and stole her pocketbook containing $22, leaving Monte's trousers in her backyard.

His last visit was in the Belmont st. home of Mrs. L. E. Briggs. He gained entrance to the cellar, carried a chopping block into the backyard and by means of it entered a pantry window. There he stole Mrs. Briggs' pocketbook containing $2 and checks.

IT'S OFF IN A "REVERSE LINDY"

FEAR FOR LIFE OF VARE

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 3 (INS) The condition of United States Senator-elect William S. Vare, Republican leader of Philadelphia, who suffered a stroke of apoplexy Wednesday night at his summer home at Ventnor, near here, was reported to be "still alarming" today.

His personal physician, Dr. Ellwood R. Kirby of Philadelphia, was in consultation with two local physicians. Vare is 62 years old, the age at which both his brothers died.

He suffered from acute indigestion and from pleurisy at Ventnor this spring. This weakened him. According to Dr. Kirby, the stroke of apoplexy has cost the senator-elect the use of his left arm and left leg. He fell out of bed while trying to struggle to his feet.

Some of his friends were inclined to attribute Vare's condition to the bitter fight over his seat in the United States Senate.

Judge Cares Just Nothing If It's Hot; Just Don a Coat

Neither hot weather nor a late automobile party was allowed by Judge Charles J. Brown to interfere with the dignity of East Boston court today.

Frank Falzarone of Havre st. complained of for leaving the scene of an accident without making himself known, appeared without a coat to answer the charge. His shirtsleeves were rolled up and his neck bared.

"Haven't you enough respect for the court to wear a coat and come properly dressed?" Judge Brown asked.

"Well, it's a hot day and I didn't think it necessary to wear a coat," Falzarone responded.

"I'll let you off this time but don't do it again," warned the judge. "It's very improper and it sets a poor example. I fine you $20 on the automobile offense."

George Santarpio, Chelsea st., was the next defendant, charged with driving so as to endanger.

"Why weren't you in court yesterday?" asked Judge Brown.

"Well, I was out on an auto party and I didn't get in bed until 4 a. m. I asked my mother to call me and she didn't."

"I don't like your excuse, Santarpio, and I fine you $5 for contempt of court. The auto charge is continued until Tuesday."

BROOKLINE TAX RATE CUT $1

Brookline tax payers were cheered today at the rate of $1 per $1000.

That much of a reduction has been made in the tax rate for 1928 over 1927. The new rate is $29.

The reduction is possible, according to official announcement, because the treasury held $244,000 in "free cash" at the end of the fiscal year and because there is a decrease in State and Metropolitan taxes.

Also the sources of revenue to the town have been increased and the year's receipts, it is estimated, will be larger.

The town's valuation for 1928 is set at $162,162,900 as against $155,272,700 for last year.

KING IS BURNED FIGHTING FIRE

Sofia, Bulgaria, Aug 3 (AP)—King Boris was burned on the forehead and hands when fighting the flames in a series of forest fires which have been ravaging the Tshamkorye district. The King's sister, Princess Eudoxia, has likewise been fighting the fires.

The King's injuries are not regarded as serious. The fires have caused great damage, but no lives have been lost.

Concord Rate Drops

Concord's tax announced today is $37.80, a drop of $3.10.

600 'DARLINGS' IN CONTEST

Miller, of 12 Castlegate rd., Roxbury, as "Freckles."

When the local "Gang" is completed, a movie is to be filmed in Boston in which the six children picked by the judges will be the principals. All other kiddies entered in the contest will take part in the big scenes, calling for many children.

The six children selected by the judges this week will be candidates for first prize of a three months' trip to California with salary of $1200 while acting in real "Our Gang" comedies during that period. The round-trip traveling expenses of winner and parents are included in first prize award.

The local film will be made in Metropolitan Boston, August 20, 21 and 22.

All the children participating in it are going to have a whale of a time. Make no mistake about that.

The picture will be shown at the Orpheum during the entire week of September 3.

The judges who are picking the "doubles" of the various "Our Gang" principals are Henry Havelock Pierce, one of the most widely known photographers in Boston; William P. Long, chairman of the Boston Park Commission; Richard G. Mahoney, expert photographer of Wald Studios; Maurice Wolf, New England representative of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Pictures, and Boston Health Commissioner Dr. Francis X. Mahoney.

DICKINSON TO TAKE CASE TO THE COURTS

The hearing on the appeal of Freeman D. Dickinson, recently discharged as a State boiler inspector, held before Gen. Alfred F. Foote, commissioner of public safety, was ended today without closing arguments.

Counsel for Dickinson indicated that in the event of an adverse decision the case would be taken to the courts.

William X. Weeks, associate counsel for Dickinson, in the absence of Frank A. Goodwin, called to Brockton on business, made an unsuccessful attempt to have Charles P. Howard, chairman of the Commission on Administration and Finance, identify two volumes of evidence as being responsible for the discharge of Dickinson.

The evidence was taken during the hearing by Howard of charges that state officials drank confiscated liquor, but Asst.Atty.-Gen. F. Delano Putnam protested against the identification and he was supported by Gen. Foote. As a result of rulings yesterday, the hearing dealt only with the charge that John H. Plunkett, chief boiler inspector, was drunk at a dinner in Hotel Kenmore in 1924.

NEW AIR LINE BETWEEN NEW YORK AND BERMUDA

Roosevelt Field, N. Y., Aug. 3 (AP)—Plans for the establishment of a passenger air line between New York and Bermuda were announced today by H. H. Clarke, manager of Roosevelt Field and chief of operations for the company. Two twin-motored Sikorsky amphibian planes will be delivered in September, Clarke said, and it is planned to begin operations of the new line November 1. The planes will have accommodations for 10 passengers, a pilot and a navigator, who also will act as radio operator. The schedule provides six hours for the 680-mile overwater flight.

MISSING YACHT IS TOWED INTO SANTANDER

Santander, Spain, August 3 (AP)—The yacht Azara, which had been missing in the transatlantic race for the king's cup, was towed into the bay this morning and anchored in front of the royal palace.

The crew of the yacht, which left New York on July 7, explained that they had lost their bearings and sailed into a calm. They had been receiving wireless messages and learned of the search for them. They were unable to reply since their own transmitting apparatus had failed.

Confederate Leader Dies

Houston, Tex., Aug. 3 (AP)—Death has claimed another of the colorful figures of the thinning ranks of gray in the passing of James Calvin Foster, commander-in-chief of the United Confederate Veterans in 1927. The veteran died here yesterday at the age of 81.

Los Angeles, Aug. 3—Disposing of his interests in the De Mille motion picture studio, Cecil B. De Mille, widely-known producer-director, has signed contracts to join the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios as a director of M-G-M films.

The announcement stated that De Mille would leave his own studio within a month, bringing to M-G-M his entire personal staff.

WOOD, VAUDEVILLE STAR, KILLS WIFE, SHOOTS SELF

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 3 (AP)—A 15-year vaudeville partnership between husband wife was broken here today when Jack A. Wood, trick shot artist, shot and killed his wife, Mrs. Nellie Wood, with the rifle he used so long on the stage. He then turned the gun on himself. Physicians said he probably would die. A daughter of Mrs. Wood by a former marriage witnessed the shooting.

TENNESSEE VOTE CLOSE FOR GOVERNOR HORTON

Nashville, Tenn., Aug. 3 (AP)—Tennessee's Democratic gubernatorial contest, most hotly contested of all in the campaign preceding yesterday's statewide primaries, held first place in interest today as it resolved into a nip and tuck race between Governor Henry H. Horton and Hill McAllister. Unofficial returns from 1694 of the State's 2270 precincts showed: Horton, 78,441; McAllister, 76,267, and Lewis S. Pope, 19,879.

In the senatorial contest, Senator Kenneth M. McKellar had almost 27,000 over Representative Finis Garrett in returns from 1670 precincts. The vote: McKellar, 89,319; Garrett, 43,739.

Live Lobster Put On Bench; Court Fines Fish Pier Firm

A live lobster sat on the bench in Judge Bennett's session of municipal court today and John Nagle Co., Fish Pier commission merchants were fined $294 for having 147 short lobsters in their possession. An appeal was taken.

Frederick W. Goodwin of the fish and game commission testified he found the short lobsters in a consignment of 2900 the firm was handling for Samuel Calhoon of Woods Hole, and which were sold to J. A. Young, Commercial Wharf.

Counsel for Nagle, who was in court, described the method of measuring lobsters, with which Judge Bennett said he was quite familiar. Several live crustaceans were taken into court and one was placed on the bench.

FRED STONE IS HURT IN CRASH OF AIRPLANE

reached the spot and help him extricate himself.

The veteran actor, who holds a student flier's license, flew to Groton this morning with his daughter Paula, in the plane in which he later crashed but which at that time was being piloted by Lieut. John L. Campian, his flight instructor.

After the trio had landed, Stone decided to try a solo flight and, taking his place at the controls, took off from the field. He circled over the field several times, gradually widening his circles until he was some miles distant.

After about ten minutes of this he started back to the field and it was when he was within a few miles of his landing place that he crashed.

Stone has a summer estate in Lyme, Ct., which he calls "Star Ranch," and it was from there that the party flew to Groton this morning.

From the farm where he crashed, he was taken by automobile to the Lawrence and Memorial hospital here, a distance of several miles.

50 HUB POLICE ORDERED INTO STRIKE ZONE

will go under the leadership of Sergt. Charles Donelan.

Brookline was asked for ten men and Sgt. Joseph J. O'Connell, Jr. was assigned to lead this detail.

RIOTING EXPECTED.

Somerville will send 10 men under Sergt. John J. Killourhy.

The first appeal to outside cities and towns for police reserves was made a week ago today, in preparation for breaking up a parade which the strikers had planned for last Saturday. This parade was called off at the last minute.

When last week's parade was canceled, strike leaders said it would take place tomorrow. But with most of the leaders in jail, it is considered doubtful if the attempt to parade without a permit will be made.

Today's message from Mayor Charles S. Ashley of New Bedford to Mayor Quinn contained the following explanation:

"Street rioting and disturbances are expected and strong forces are imperatively necessary."

An appeal has been made to the United States Government for a federal investigation of the strike situation at New Bedford, the plea being sent by an official representing the striking operatives.

Many strike leaders today declared their sole hope of settling the strike problem lay in an official inquiry by the government.

On behalf of strikers of the Textile Workers' Union, its vice-president and ranking officer, Louis F. Ouellette, sent a telegram to Secretary of Labor James J. Davis at Washington.

In his appeal for an investigation by the labor chief, Ouellette declared "innocent workers" were being arrested and "red terror" was in evidence.

Ouellette urged immediate action.

It is reported today that the various unions affiliated with the Textile Council voted down the plan advocated by the State Board of Conciliation and Arbitration for submitting the controversy to a disinterested tribunal for settlement.

There was danger of a serious clash when police ordered 3000 strikers, gathered on Phillips ave., to move.

The crowd set up a tremendous yelling as the police made the rush which changed to cries of fear.

"You are gathered here contrary to law," said Captain of Police Mackinstry, "and many of you are known to the officers. You are all liable to a fine of $20 for loitering. I want you to break up and go to your homes."

The police started for the large line of spectators, and hundreds, believing they were to be arrested, broke and ran across a large open lot to the westward, with the police scattering, and chasing them away, while hundreds went slowly up the side streets from the mill. There was a tremendous din of shouting as they were driven away.

Only one arrest was made, William Iwasky being taken by Patrolman A. J. Pavis for drunkenness.

SINCLAIR SUED FOR $544,000

New York, Aug. 3—A suit for $544,000 has been filed against Harry F. Sinclair, oil magnate, by Mrs. Jane Clay Zeveley, widow of Col. James W. Zeveley, who was counsel for Sinclair for many years.

The widow declared that in 1923 her husband turned over 32,000 shares in the Mammoth Oil Company to Sinclair with the understanding that Sinclair either purchase the stock or return it. The widow alleges that the stock was never sold and that since that time Sinclair has refused to turn back the certificates.

The oil magnate's answer to the suit is a general denial of the widow's charges.

CLAIM PATROLMAN BROKE UP DEATH BED MEETING

Worcester, Aug. 3—Four charges were preferred today against Patrolman John Carrigan, who is alleged to have interrupted a death bed meeting of a father and son at City Hospital, and Mayor O'Hara was asked by Police Chief Thomas F. Foley, maker of the charges, to suspend Carrigan.

The policeman is accused of drinking while on duty, failing to tell the truth, leaving his beat and conduct unbecoming an officer. Carrigan had an altercation at the hospital with Axel Olson of Wilbur st., Wollaston, who was visiting his father, Carl Olson, 77, of Boylston. The father is at the point of death.

TWO WATERBURY MEN KILLED BY CANADIAN TRAIN

Beamsville, Ont., Aug. 3—R. Montgomery, Jr., 25; Joseph C. Butler, 26, both of Waterbury, Ct., were killed when their automobile stalled on a railway crossing here and was struck by a train.

Montgomery, whose Waterbury address was 91 Shelley st., died instantly. Butler, who lived at 23 Wall st., died a few minutes after the crash.

MRS. EDWARD W. BOK AIDS HOSPITAL DRIVE

Rockland, Me., Aug. 3—Following the example of her husband, Mrs. Edward W. Bok, wife of the noted publisher, contributed to the Knox County Hospital drive $5000. Her father, Cyrus H. K. Curtis, gave $50,000 toward the fund of $100,000 which it is hoped to raise.

Tax Rate Is Cut

Great Barrington, Aug. 3—The assessors announced that the tax rate in this town for 1928 will be $23.50 as against $24 last year. The fire district rate is $4.40. Last year it was $5, or a total tax reduction for the year of $1.10.

EXTRADITION OF GUSTIN IS DEMANDED

Formal request for possession of Frank Wallace, alias "Gustin," wanted for murder of a policeman in Detroit, was made of Gov. Fuller by Gov. Fred W. Green of Michigan today.

"Rendition papers" were presented to Gov. Fuller by Lt. William Collins of the Detroit police.

The term "rendition" used in the papers signed by Governor Green was an unusual one to most of the legal lights at the State House, as the term usually used in fugitive-surrender processes between States is "extradition."

A hearing on the rendition request will be held probably Monday, although Attorney-General Joseph Warner has not set a date. He is awaiting arrival on Monday of District Attorney Robert Toms of Wayne county, Mich.

Inspector James B. Claflin will handle the case for the Boston police while counsel for Wallace at the hearing will be Daniel W. Casey and John W. Corcoran.

Wallace, held at Charles St. Jail on a fugitive warrant, is alleged to have been leader of a gang that, on June 6, killed a Detroit policeman during a holdup in the plant of the Detroit News.

MERCURY 100 IN VATICAN, POPE BREAKS PRECEDENT

Rome, Aug. 3 (AP)—Heat so oppressive that the temperature sometimes reached 100 in the shade has forced Pope Pius to abandon his daily walks in the gardens of the Vatican. He also has been inconvenienced by his foot, which he twisted in descending from his automobile.

The pontiff, without medical advice, decided not to descend from his apartment to the Pauline chapel, two floors below, although it was the date for obtaining the "Pardon of Assisi" in that chapel. The Pope was grieved at breaking the precedent.

Divorced Couple to Rewed

New Britain, Conn., Aug. 3—Alex P. Carlson, 63, and Marie C. Bjorkwall Carlson, 55, recently divorced, have applied for a license to remarry, but for business, not sentimental reasons. They explained to City Clerk Thompson that since they were divorced they have found it difficult to execute business papers, thus the remarriage.

40 Autoists Fined

The Nahant police are coming down hard on violators of traffic laws. The district court broke all records when 40 alleged violators appeared on various charges. A total of [illegible] was collected in fines.

To Repair Elevator

Mayor Nichols made available $3000 out of the city treasury to repair the elevator in the Somerset st. wing of the courthouse, which "refuses to operate when some of the justices are in it."

Don't Work When It's 90, Advice of Scientist

Evanston, Ill., Aug. 3 (AP)—The advice of Prof. B. S. Hopkins of the University of Illinois is that people should not be worked when the temperature mounts into the nineties.

Prof. Hopkins, a speaker before the American Chemical Society Institute at Northwestern University today, was describing the attempt of science to obtain a frigidity of 159 degrees below zero.

The substance used is called "calolinim sulfate"—one of the rare earth elements.

"With it," Prof. Hopkins said, "science hopes to get to the real bottom of the temperature scale—so-called 'absolute zero.'"

At this point, it was explained, molecules cease to move. Everything stands still. Man couldn't exist in anything near such temperature.

Rat Bites Baby's Foot

By FRANK A. GOODWIN

Highway Safety Editor Boston Evening American and Former Registrar of Motor Vehicles for Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

"Why is there no law to compel bicycle riders to have lights?" was the question submitted by an indignant motorist recently.

Perhaps the reason that question was asked was because hardly any bicycle has a light at night. But the fact is there is a law requiring lights on bicycles.

Here it is: "Whoever——rides a bicycle in or upon a public way, square or park, or land or driveway appurtenant to a public reservoir without a suitable alarm bell adapted for use by the rider or, during the period from one half hour after sunset to one half hour before sunrise, without a light attached to the bicycle visible from the front and rear——shall be punished by a fine of not more than twenty dollars."

Frank A Goodwin

This law is an unusual one in that it was passed for the protection of those riding bicycles rather than for the protection of others. Every parent should see to it that no child be permitted to ride a bicycle at night without a light. The records from the registry department show clearly the necessity for this precaution.

In 1926 there were 16 bicycle riders killed by automobiles, but in 1927 the record was better, there being only 8 killed. The largest number killed in any one year was in 1923 when there were 20 fatalities.

In the injured column the figures are more impressive. In 1926, there were 690 persons injured by automobiles while riding bicycles, and in 1927 there were 634.

The largest number injured in any one year was 872 in 1925 and most of these were young people.

Not only does the law require lights on motor vehicles and bicycles at night but the law also requires lights on other vehicles.

It reads thus: "Every vehicle whether stationary or in motion, on any public way, shall have attached to it a light or lights, which shall be so displayed as to be visible from the front and the rear."

There is an exception, however, and it is that no light is necessary when the vehicle is loaded with hay or straw. This exception was apparently made because such materials are inflammable.

In these days when motor vehicles move so fast and come up so suddenly on other vehicles on the road, it is of course necessary for their own protection that drivers of other vehicles be provided with proper lights and the same is true with reference to bicycle riders.

King George Lauds Kellogg Pact as Peace Guarantee

London, Aug. 3 (AP)—Confidence that the Kellogg pact to outlaw war will be an important guarantee of peace was expressed by King George in proroguing parliament today.

The speech from the throne said:

"My government has been happy to accept the proposed treaty for the renunciation of war in the form in which it was finally proposed to them by the government of the United States. The proposed treaty has similarly been accepted by my governments in the dominions and my government of India.

"It is my confident expectation that when completed it will constitute an important guarantee of the world's peace."

COURTNEY WILL REACH N. Y. MONDAY

New York, Aug. 3 (INS)—Thankful to have escaped the fate of others who unsuccessfully attempted to span the Atlantic, Capt. Frank T. Courtney, famous British flier, and his three companions were aboard the Atlantic transport liner Minnewaska en route for this port today after having been rescued from mid-ocean where they had landed in a blazing plane.

The Minnewaska will reach here Monday morning. Radio reports from the liner indicated that Courtney, E. H. Hosmer, Montreal banker and backer of the flight; E. W. Gilmour, radio operator, and Fred Pierce, mechanic, all were in good condition despite their harrowing experience.

The men were picked up at a point about 1600 miles due east of New York and a little more than 700 miles west of their starting point, Horta, Azores.

The fliers were in the air about 14 hours when their plane caught fire. Realizing that nothing could be done in the air, Courtney headed his blazing plane downward. He succeeded in landing on the rough sea without serious mishap.

The men succeeded in putting the blaze out. Then came terrible hours of waiting with their plane bobbing up and down with each wave.

Meanwhile, Gilmour sent out S O S messages which were picked up by the S. S. Cedric and relayed to other ships. Five ocean liners rushed to the scene.

Ancient manuscripts are supposed to show that King Herod, not Pilate, ordered the crucifixion of Jesus. Herod was bad enough without trying to make his record worse.

Crucifixion was distinctly a Roman punishment, as many Christian martyrs learned with sorrow.

It was never a Jewish punishment. Jewish law stoned the condemned criminal

Jerusalem was ruled by a Roman governor, Pilate, at the time of the crucifixion, and the Roman punishment was adopted.

Another airplane down on the Atlantic ocean.

Capt. T. Courtney and his associates were able to broadcast their fall.

Fortunately no number of accidents can discourage flying courage.

TAX COLLECTOR GIVES UP CASH, RESIGNS

The selectmen of Ludlow have a rather unusual problem before them involving former Tax Collector Michael J. Rooney.

An audit of the collector's books showed a shortage in Rooney's accounts of $4787. The collector immediately made the amount good and then resigned his office.

A report of the shortage and subsequent restitution has been made to the selectmen by Theodore H. Waddell, State director of accounts.

The report sets forth that many of the accounts in the collector's books had been juggled and that a number of erasures had been made.

OLDEST WOMAN DIES AT 101 IN ROXBURY

Mrs. Catherine Powell, oldest resident of Roxbury, and the widow of Michael Powell, is dead at her home, 12 Carlow st., in her 101st year. Had she lived until Christmas, Mrs. Powell would have been 102 years old.

Coming from Ireland as a child she watched the growth of Roxbury from a village to a city.

Mrs. Powell was a friend of ex-Mayor James M. Curley, having been a neighbor of his when he resided at 47 Albany st. Funeral services will take place tomorrow at 9 a. m., with solemn requiem high mass at St. Patrick's Church, Dudley st.

SAY PRINCESS AND SUBKOFF IN QUEBEC

Quebec, Aug. 3 (AP)—L'Evenement, French language paper, says today Princess Victoria von Schaumberg-Lippe, sister of former Emperor William of Germany, has arrived in Quebec with her young husband, Alexander Subkoff.

The couple registered under an assumed name, but admitted their identities when questioned, L'Evenement says.

According to the paper, Princess Victoria declared she and her husband were in Canada as tourists and had come to Quebec from New York.

New York, Aug. 3 (AP)—If Princess Victoria von Schaumberg-Lippe, sister of the former German Kaiser, and her husband, Alexander Subkoff, arrived in Quebec from New York, as reported by the newspaper L'Evenement, their presence here escaped notice. They last were reported in Belgium.

Samuel Morisons' Beautiful Place to Be Scene of Annual Fete

ALL PETERBOROUGH IS Gymkhana minded today. And all the lovely adjacent countryside follows suit, to make the annual fete a headliner. Guests come in numbers, so there's not one hospitable rooftree but shelters its quota and makes occasion to stretch the stay into a week-end. Mrs. Horace Morison and the Morison daughters, at their Terrace Hill Farm are entertaining, and so are Mrs. John Jay White, the George Swinnerton Parkers, the Samuel Morisons and practically anyone you might mention in Dublin or Peterborough.

GYMKHANA THRONGS AND Gymkhana jollity are well taken care of, on the Samuel Morison place, Bleak House. It is a Peterborough estate pridefully shown the stranger. The mansion is charming and its owners popular. Annually the Gymkhana's excitements unfold on one of the estate's wide fields, one sufficiently broad and untrammeled to furnish space for so enormous a show. A local club benefits by countless silver shekels so that existence during another year is financially on velvet and well assured.

SO FAR AS THE DANCE IS CONCERNED, MYOPIA THIS SUMMER shows a dearth of affairs arranged merely that the hours from late dinner to on coming dawn may pass lightly. The next important terpsichorean merrymaking on the Myopia list is almost a month away. That means late August, when the Myopia season is just getting into its autumn stretch for hunting and other regions not so blessed with scenery and climate undergo the metamorphosis from awnings to shutters. John Nightingale is one of the Myopians giving the dance.

LUXURIOUS SEA GOING LEVIATHANS TAKE THEIR STATELY way across August seas that are all a sparkle and colored heaven's own blue. They arrive and they depart, these liners, and each arrival and each departure is significant socially, since the upper crusty ones are forever on the wing. By the steamship France there is an exodus Europeward of the Reginald Foster family. The young and lovely Mrs. Maxwell Foster, with Mr. Foster, is aboard as the liner's whistle toots and she is nosed out into the stream tonight at midnight.

AND WHEN THE "ALL ASHORE" SOUNDS TO SPEED SHIP visitors on their homeward way, there remains aboard Reginald Foster, Jr., who crosses the ocean and then crosses right back again, doing the transatlantic journey merely in the spirit of a little late summer trip. The Maxwell Fosters are to be away until into the autumn, giving the bride-like Mrs. Foster ample opportunity to replenish a handsome wardrobe in the city where fashions are born. The Reginald Fosters just mentioned belong to the family of that name having a town house in the Fenway, and not to the Fosters that hail from out Charles River Village way.

HUGH OGDEN TAKES HIS daughter, Miss Anna Ogden, to Europe via the steamship France, and Dr. Arthur A. Cushing is a shipmate with Mr. Ogden for the voyage. The Chandler Bullocks came home via the France when that steamship made a crossing from France to New York recently, and S. St. John Morgan of the international finance group of bankers and money magnates came down the gangplank to American soil and high-pressure cities. I believe he is now in Boston concerned with weighty matters.

HOOVER WRITES HIS SPEECH IN SECLUSION

Stanford University, Cal., Aug. 3 (AP)—Behind the thick oaken door that shuts off the study in his hillside home here, Herbert Hoover devoted today to putting the finishing touches on the most momentous address of his career, that accepting the Republican nomination for President.

In this address, in Stanford stadium one week from tomorrow, he will present his views on the two most discussed issues of the campaign, prohibition and farm relief, and on other issues which he believes must have their weight in the scales by which the voters will measure the candidates on November 6.

He has insisted on preparing the address in his own language and literary style. He has sought advice from many sources and has had advice thrust upon him. All has been weighed with the care with which he handles problems, but his closest advisers assert the ultimate decision as to what is to be said and the manner of the saying has been his own.

SMITH DRIVE IN FARM STATES ANNOUNCED

New York, Aug. 3 (INS)—Confident of success in the South and East, Governor Al Smith has decided to wage an intensive campaign in the Middle West in the belief that if he can carry a few farm states he can clinch the presidential election.

The Governor's first move to win the support of Republican farmers in the corn belt resulted in an announcement by George N. Peek of Moline, Ill., regarded as the spokesman for [illegible] Middle West farmers, that he would support the Democratic ticket.

The next step to be taken by Smith in an effort to capture the farm vote will be the formation of a special committee which will have complete charge of the campaign in the agricultural centers. This committee is expected to be headed by Bernard M. Baruch and probably will have its headquarters in Chicago.

The drive for the farm votes will be concentrated in Illinois, the Dakotas, Iowa, Missouri and Wisconsin, according to close advisers of Governor Smith.

In addition, Smith has made a frank bid for the support of Frank O. Lowden, former Republican governor of Illinois and a militant leader in the fight for farm relief.

NUN AND 2 HELD IN SLAYING OF OBREGON

Mexico City, Aug. 3 (AP)—Three persons, including the Mother Superior Maria Conception Acebeda de la Llata, were held today on formal charges of being accomplices in the assassination of Gen. Alvaro Obregon. They were in the jail at San Angel, where Jose de Leon Toral, the slayer, was awaiting trial for murder.

"Mental irresponsibility" will be offered by Toral's lawyers as his defense, they indicated.

Juan Correa Nieto, attorney-general, announced that Toral's mother, father and wife, 16 nuns and all others who had been in custody in connection with the investigation have been released. The others charged with being accomplices were Senora Maria Louisa Altimira and Jorge Fernandez Gallardo.

Nieto said he would ask for 20 years' imprisonment for Mother Superior Concepcion. This is the maximum penalty for a woman charged with being an accomplice to a murder. The Mexican law does not permit the death penalty for a woman.

The prosecutor announced that he would ask the death penalty for Toral. He will be tried by a jury of nine men and the majority decision will determine the verdict. The formal trial will be open to the public.

The jury can return a verdict of death, which would be by a firing squad, or it can refuse the prosecution's request for death and instead give a verdict of either life imprisonment or imprisonment for a number of years. The jury can fix the imprisonment of the Mother Superior at less than the 20 years the prosecution asks or can find her not guilty.

Nieto will ask for 10 years' imprisonment for the other accomplices.

LIGHT PLANT IN TOWN OF 2000 STIRS TRUST

Washington, Aug. 3—Public utility men pulled wires from thousands of miles away to prevent Mountain Grove, a little Missouri town of 2000 souls, from setting up a city-owned light plant favored by a majority of its voters, Federal Trade Commission documents showed.

A sheaf of letters in the commission's propaganda investigation record traced an onslaught of propaganda against Mountain Grove's plans from that town to Cienfuegos, Cuba, New York, St. Louis and back to Mountain Grove.

From Mountain Grove, W. J. Chase, a resident hostile to municipal ownership, who had formerly been in an American bank in Cienfuegos, sent an appeal to E. A. Graham, Cienfuegos utility man. Chase asked names of persons "who would be able to help out in the propaganda work."

Graham passed the plea along to A. Flor, of the Electric Bond and Share Company, New York, pointing out a potential service "to the cause of private utilities."

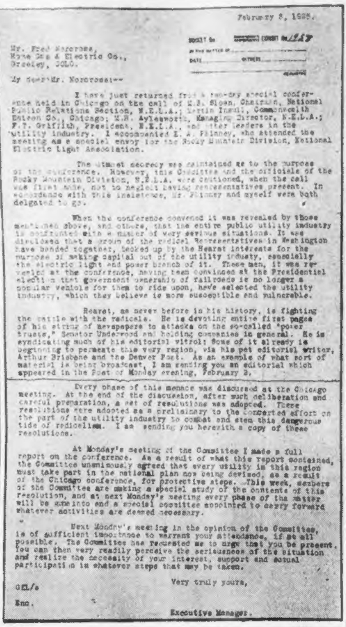
Flor called on the Missouri propaganda committee, writing J. H. Sheridan, its director, as follows:

"I have no doubt that you are already fully informed regarding this situation, but it nevertheless seems well to send the enclosed to you. You will, I know, want to do whatever you can to help defeat this particular move."

Although details of Sheridan's campaign were lacking in the record, it was shown that a long record of the so-called "abandonment" and "shutting down" of city-owned plants in many sections of the country was printed in full page advertisements in a Mountain Grove newspaper.

Officials believed the list came from light association publications issued to discredit municipal ventures and aid the campaign to force them to sell out.

How Power Started Drive



February 3, 1925.

Mr. Fred Norcross,
Home Gas & Electric Co.,
Greeley, COLO.

My dear Mr. Norcross:--

I have just returned from a two-day special conference held in Chicago on the call of M.S. Sloan, Chairman, National Public Relations Section, N.E.L.A.; Martin Insull, Commonwealth Edison Co., Chicago; M.H. Aylesworth, Managing Director, N.E.L.A.; F.T. Griffith, President, N.E.L.A., and other leaders in the utility industry. I accompanied E. A. Phinney, who attended the meeting as a special envoy for the Rocky Mountain Division, National Electric Light Association.

The utmost secrecy was maintained as to the purpose of the conference. However, this Committee and the officials of the Rocky Mountain Division, N.E.L.A. were cautioned, when the call was first made, not to neglect having representatives present. In accordance with this insistence, Mr. Phinney and myself were both delgated to go.

When the conference convened it was revealed by those mentioned above, and others, that the entire public utility industry is confronted with a number of very serious situations. It was disclosed that a group of the radical Representatives in Washington have banded together, backed up by the Hearst interests for the purpose of making capital out of the utility industy, especially the electric light and power branch of it. These men, it was revealed at the conference, having been convinced at the Presidential election that government ownership of railroads is no longer a popular vehicle for them to ride upon, have selected the utility industry, which they believe is more susceptible and vulnerable.

Hearst, as never before in his history, is fighting the battle with the radicals. He is devoting entire first pages of his string of newspapers to attacks on the so-called "power trusts," Senator Underwood and holding companies in general. He is syndicating much of his editorial vitrol; Some of it already is beginning to permeate this very region, via his pet editorial writer, Arthur Brisbane and the Denver Post. As an example of what sort of material is being broadcast, I am sending you an editorial which appeared in the Post of Monday evening, February 2.

Every phase of this menace was discussed at the Chicago meeting. At the end of the discussion, after much deliberation and careful preparation, a set of resolutions was adopted. These resolutions were adopted as a preliminary to the concerted effort on the part of the utility industry to combat and stem this dangerous tide of radicalism. I am sending you herewith a copy of these resolutions.

At Monday's meeting of the Committee I made a full report on the conference. As a result of what this report contained, the Committee unanimously agreed that every utility in this region must take part in the national plan now being devised, as a result of the Chicago conference, for protective steps. This week, members of the Committee are making a special study of the contents of this resolution, and at next Monday's meeting every phase of the matter will be gone into and a special committee appointed to carry forward whatever activities are deemed necessary.

Next Monday's meeting in the opinion of the Committee, is of sufficient importance to warrant your attendance, if at all possible. The Committee has requested me to urge that you be present. You can then very readily perceive the seriousness of the situation and realize the necessity of your interest, support and actual participation in whatever steps that may be taken.

Very truly yours,

GEL/e

Executive Manager.

THIS extraordinary letter, written February 3, 1925, to Fred Norcross of the Home Gas and Electric Co., Greeley, Colo., by George E. Lewis, executive manager of the Rocky Mountain Public Utility Information Committee, records the origin of the nation-wide drive against public utilities begun by the electric power companies in 1925 and continuing to the present time.

According to Mr. Lewis, M. S. Sloane, president of the Brooklyn Edison Company and at that time chairman of the National Public Relations Section, National Electric Light Association, acting with other high officials in the utility world, called an emergency meeting of the leading men in the industry to meet in Chicago at the end of January, 1925.

There they devised plans to defeat an alleged alliance between the Hearst newspapers and "radicals" in Congress. The detailed plans disclosed in one of the documents put into the hearing of the Federal Trade Commission, included a nation-wide advertising press notice and public speaking campaign which still rages.

JOHNSON FLAYS TRUST ACTS ON BOULDER DAM

Los Angeles, Aug. 3 (INS)—"No man on earth is so sacrosanct but that his position on the power trust and boulder dam should be made plain to the people of the United States."

This assertion by Senator Hiram W. Johnson galvanized into instant approval an audience that crowded the City Club here.

Later, in his address, devoted almost wholly to an exposition of the brazen methods used by the associated power corporations in the attempt to defeat boulder dam legislation, Senator Johnson said:

"Here is an issue on which no man should be silent. It will be the issue in the next session of the Senate, when the fight for Boulder Dam will be up again. This issue must be settled right if the nation is to preserve a government of the people, free and unfettered."

In the beginning of his speech the Senator said:

"I speak today of the most infamous thing that has ever developed in our social and economic life, a thing that causes the gorge of every honest man to rise.

"Out of the mouths of propagandists of the power thust themselves and the records of their secret files has come the disclosure before the Federal Trade Commission of the ramifications of their opposition to the Boulder Dam project, far, far greater than we had dreamed.

"I grant that the public utility corporations may legitimately express their views and defend their interests.

"But when any organization of them buys college professors, pays them to go on the stump to state the power corporation doctrine, when it purchases the services of leading club women, when it invades legislative halls and bribes members to shape legislation to its liking, when it goes into the pulpit itself and hires ministers to lecture on public utility questions, when it invades the schools and prostitutes education, it has created a condition that should arouse the ire of every citizen.

"Every father and every mother should rise in wrath to smite those who are putting false propaganda into text-books and into class-rooms of the public schools, attacking this the last citadel of our country's liberty."

GIRL DRINKS POISON ON TAXI RIDE

Big Political Parties to Spend $20,000,000

Can a Girl Have Too Much Feminine Appeal?

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Nancy Deane, golden-haired, dark-eyed, who has lived her 18 years with David and Margaret O'Day, foster parents, in Worcester, learns she is the granddaughter of the wealthy and aristocratic Montgomery Deanes of Boston and Brookline, who disinherited her father and do not even know of her existence. Through John Blair, a young man she has learned to admire, she secures a letter to Howard Westcott, manager of a mill in Boston. She meets Ginger Varden, a style model, who takes her to her boarding house and introduces her to her friends. One of these, Vic Flemming, makes love to her and asks her to marry him. Westcott, attracted by her beauty, offers her a place in the office. She is naively delighted, but both Ginger and Vic denounce Westcott.

That same evening while Vic, Jerry Durant, Ginger and Nancy are dining and dancing at the Pheasant, Westcott comes in; Vic picks a quarrel and they have a rough and tumble fight and are arrested

The papers are full of the episode; Ginger hails it as good publicity and insists on getting Nancy a job at modelling with Ziegelbaum, her employer.

When Westcott sees Nancy the next morning he acts as though nothing had happened, takes her to lunch to the country, shows jealousy of Vic Flemming and kisses Nancy.

She feels drawn to Westcott and confides in him her story all except the name of her grandparents.

She wonders if she is in love with him, all the time recalling John Blair. Westcott takes her motoring and shows his fondness for her. She accepts a job from Ginger modelling for some evening style shows in nearby Bay State places, planning to ask Westcott to let her off early for a week.

Now Go on With the Story

"High hat 'em. Make 'em think they're the dirt under your feet. It's the only way they'll have an ounce of respect for you," Ginger had advised.

But Nancy couldn't have high-hatted anyone. She hardly knew what the expression meant.

Ginger introduced them—Violet La Ma[illegible], Therese Thaddeus, Ma[illegible] Montague, Virginia Vogue, and others.

"What [illegible] names!" Nancy thought. When Ginger announced her simply as Nancy O'Day she [illegible] she were dressed [illegible] sparrow beside a [illegible] of strutting [illegible] peacocks. As soon as some of the girls started to talk she thought the comparison [illegible] wasn't so far wrong. Like the peacock, most of them had harsh voices, strident and unpleasant.

Ziegelbaum came into the room rubbing his hands, his bald head shining as brightly as his highly polished leather shoes. He clapped his pudgy hands.

"Come girls, we must hurry," he said, "run along now to your dressing rooms, so? Some wonderful new [numbers] I have just received from Paris today an' I want you girls should be careful wid 'em. Yes?"

Nancy heard the tuning of musical instruments somewhere in another room and she asked Ginger, "what's the music all about?" She was excited with her venture, her cheeks were beautifully pink, the real pink of her own complexion. Her skin

Third for Koernig in '200' as Scholz Declines to Run

Amsterdam, Aug. 3 (AP)—The Olympic judges today awarded third place in the disputed 200 meters final to Helmut Koernig of Germany after Jackson Scholz of the United States had declined to run off the tie in which they were placed on Wednesday.

The sprinters were invited to stage a special race this morning. Koernig was willing but Scholz declined because he has broken training.

The effect of the decision puts the United States no better than fourth in either sprint and also takes ½ point off the American score and gives the same to Germany.

Harvard Crews Beat Japan Four; Back in Running

Sloten, Holland, Aug. 3 (AP)—The Harvard four [illegible] representing the United States in the Olympic regatta here got back into the running for the championship [illegible] defeating the Japanese [illegible]

Harvard's [illegible] lengths [illegible] 7 minutes and 13 seconds [illegible]

As a result of its victory over the Japanese, the Harvard crew will participate in tonight's draw for tomorrow's races as if it had not lost to the German outfit yesterday. Scullers and crews who lost both yesterday and today are definitely eliminated, but there were no Americans among them.

The United States [illegible] beat the [illegible] lengths in one of the first heats.

[illegible] at 500 meters. At the halfway mark, 1000 meters they were three lengths in the lead. They had increased their advantage to five lengths when [illegible] mark was reached [illegible] until the end.

The Americans had the best time [illegible] seconds.

AMERICAN OLYMPIC METHODS ALL WET

EVEN the Atlantic cables must be shedding tears as the news from our track champions comes stuttering under the waves. Something is wrong in Amsterdam; something more than the button of the French generalissimo smacked by the zealous Dutch guard.

Our method of preparing Olympic teams is all wet. That has been proven beyond all doubt in these last few days. The boys who were burning up the tracks and troubling the records in these parts are having a tough old time trying to get anywhere.

Nick Flatley

Anyone with common sense must admit that all the speed in the world is not enclosed by our own boundaries. But the same one can also argue that at least a single running event out of a dozen should be grabbed by some American.

There was as much speed and class as the world ever saw at the tryouts in the Cambridge stadium. Wyckoff, Hahn and the rest of the boys were GOOD, and we don't mean maybe. But over where they use tulip bulbs instead of cobblestones, the boys are mostly null and void, if not worse than that.

It would seem that the U. S. methods of preparation are all wet. Our athletes are forced to put in months of conditioning and racing to make the grade. They get to razor edge before sailing. Naturally, they slump off and cannot come back for the big test.

More sensible methods of selection should be insisted on prior to the next Olympiad. This country has the class, but a flock of badge toters toss it around. The sensible method of getting a real team is apparent

Make the selections early, a couple of months before the games. Pick two men for an event and let it go at that. Send the team over at least a month in advance. The saving in transportation, in point of numbers, would take care of that. Make the outstanding champs do their conditioning wherever the games happen to be. They should be relieved of the strain of qualifying, just as tennis players are seeded.

Cut down the number of coaches and advisers and make the whole thing a serious proposition rather than a joy ride. Then our athletes will have something more than courage and the desire to win to take into the races.

DEMPSEY IS AN ARTIST. HOW HE CAN DRAW! ASK EDDIE MACK. HE KNOWS.

RABBIT MARANVILLE ONE OF WORLD WONDERS

ONE of sport's greatest thrills can be collected right here in your own city by going out to watch Walter Maranville play shortstop for the St. Louis Cardinals. Here is an athlete who was cast into the exterior darkness four years ago, voted down and out.

He had been playing large league baseball for a dozen seasons and in all that stretch had never given a hoot about rules or regulations. He grabbed his fun where he found it and frisked laughing down the trail of the years. It was decided unanimously that the Rabbit had worn himself out, that his sins had caught up with him.

He was shunted into the minors and the big show thought itself well rid of him. The Rabbit didn't like the bushes a bit, so he determined to prove that he had something left. He reformed overnight, after an hilarious spring in '25. He was so good that the Cardinals brought him back last year, when they were in need of infielders.

Now the Rabbit has benched Tommy Thevenow, one of those $100,000 ball players. Manager McKechnie doesn't hesitate to say that the midget has made his club a pennant chaser. The kid in his 16th year of baseball, is still one of the greatest of the shortstops.

He had a tough time forgetting the fuss and the froth, for nobody ever had more friends. But he has done it. He's getting plenty of credit and deserves more. This new Rabbit is a fit subject for several hundred yards of editorials, and that sort of thing.

WATCH RUTH PILE UP HOMERS NOW THAT THE YANKS REALLY NEED 'EM. THAT OLD BOY HAS MORE FIGHTING SPIRIT THAN A REGIMENT.

THE RING WARS FINALLY COME TO BOSTON

BOSTON ring fans did not have much to cheer about in the early summer season, but now real rows are coming quick and fast. So are the crowds. E. Mack and the other promoters have caught the correct idea. They're offering the boys good shows, for reasonable money. That will pay, always.

The Argonne muss Monday, with Finnegan and Jadick, is one of the best cards the whole country provides just now.

"Good Girl"; Nancy Told About Model's Life

[illegible] to [illegible] these rags," Ginger [illegible]

"You have to get the step, you know. [illegible] dance to the [illegible] just put on [illegible] society [illegible] and sort of [illegible] away, [illegible] Look haughty as [illegible]"

Ziegelbaum was coming toward [illegible]

[illegible] between [illegible] and [illegible] Ginger. A [illegible] Mees Warden [illegible] for my de[illegible] and the bouffant [illegible]

Ziegelbaum [illegible] Nancy [illegible] He called Ginger, Mees Warden.

"Hurry now. You show Mees O'Day where to dress, [illegible] Mees [illegible]"

The [illegible] started up. Ginger [illegible] Nancy's hand, pulling her [illegible] dressing rooms. Ginger [illegible] what Nancy [illegible] Just a little [illegible] was learning [illegible] feelings. She [illegible] state of undress of [illegible] of girls before [illegible] several [illegible] at once and [illegible] state of [illegible]

Nancy wasn't used to this sort of thing. [illegible] was dressed and [illegible] her little white [illegible] at home. It was a [illegible] to see so many half naked [illegible] so casually, as [illegible]

[illegible] but [illegible] meant [illegible]

[illegible] get to first base in [illegible] Look[illegible] goes ver[illegible]

[illegible] one of these pretty [illegible] so innocent [illegible] La May had [illegible]

[illegible] he isn't different [illegible] had declared. "Remember, it's that different touch that makes a gown sell, an' it's the same with a girl. I know some men that would mop the floor for a skirt like that, an' I don't mean maybe. I got one in mind right now."

"Who you got in mind?" [illegible] asked.

[illegible] Vic Flemming [illegible] them all [illegible] wants 'em [illegible] gets [illegible] and [illegible] that as men go Vic's [illegible] if men have that too."

Ginger and Nancy walked into [illegible] dressing room just in time to [illegible] opinion [illegible] Vic Flemming. Nancy picked up her [illegible] and would have stood there [illegible] to hear more but Ginger put [illegible] forefinger to her lips [illegible] knowing jerk to her head.

"Keep quiet. Preten[illegible]"

Nancy was surprised to [illegible] mentioned. She wo[illegible] had much to do with [illegible] girls. She thought [illegible] kisses at the roadhouse [illegible] declaration of love his [illegible] "kiddo, girl say [illegible]" Now that these other girls [illegible] interested in him it occurred [illegible] that Vic had some good points [illegible] was enough of a woman to [illegible] a man was more desirable [illegible] women were interested in [illegible]

She didn't want Vic Flemming [illegible] But she would just [illegible] let these supercilious [illegible] who by their own confession [illegible] interested in him [illegible] proposed to her only [illegible] ago.

"Here you are, kid," [illegible] serge and put on the [illegible] Liberty dessert."

Nancy whirled around to see Ginger holding "The Debutante," the dress that Ziegelbaum had [illegible] It was a pale blue gown [illegible] with rhinestones and [illegible] kind of a dress for a Cinderella to wear at the Prince's ball.

"It was just made for your type," Ginger said, "hurry, I got to doll up in a snaky black velvet rag. More of the vamp stuff."

She disappeared and [illegible] later with a long [illegible] gown, the train lined [illegible] green satin.

"Eef you ple-e-eze [illegible] hurry, eh?"

Ziegelbaum stuck his head between the curtains just as Nancy was slipping out of her street dress. His beady eyes fastened on her creamy white shoulders for an instant, then he pulled the curtains together with such force that Nancy thought the pole would go crashing down.

Just as Nancy got into "The Debutante" the curtains parted again and a showy girl in a leopard coat came hurrying in. Someone cried "Hello Boots, what kept you so long?"

"Boots" flounced down into a chair and opened an evening newspaper, and said

"S[illegible] all read the [illegible] news about [illegible] millionaire [illegible] Ginger?"

[illegible] To Nancy [illegible] word about [illegible] a newspaper [illegible] sensation [illegible]

[illegible] another [illegible]

It was the [illegible] differ[illegible] read [illegible] that very [illegible]

How different [illegible] and Westcott.

Boots dropped the paper and immediately [illegible] center of [illegible] knew Westcott. Nancy [illegible] know Vic [illegible] they wanted to know [illegible] them more [illegible] in the [illegible]

"[illegible] may be crazy about clothes, but this looks as though they were crazier about men," she thought.

Ginger was equal to their demands. She told the story just as it was printed, but when the other [illegible] wanted to know [illegible] Nancy O'Day was [illegible]

[illegible] Nancy had to admit [illegible] seemed like a [illegible] of wolves going to devour her [illegible] of indifference [illegible] became [illegible] at once [illegible] put her arm around Nancy's waist and in a voice dripping with honey, she said

"Tell us all about it, new girl. This is SO exciting."

"Ee-eef you ple-e-eze girls—"

Z[illegible]

[illegible] attention was distracted for a minute.

"So Mees O'Day, eef you ple-e-eze—"

Nancy walked over to the curtain [illegible] Ziegelbaum held it for her [illegible]

[illegible] started the [illegible] trail back toward Ziegelbaum.

CHARACTER TRAITS

By CONSTANCE CAMERON

OUR grandmothers were firm in the belief that when the buxom midwife bore the small, precious burden to us and deposited it in our waiting arms, she also brought in a small package containing all the unwritten rules for bringing up that wriggling tiny bundle.

"Mother love," they said, "always included the ways and means of right educating. Mother love and wisdom come with the baby." Mother love, we admit, does come in great warm, tender waves, but we have learned that the "how" of baby raising must be learned like any other profession.

There is a wholesome and steady growth on the part of parents of this day and age toward intelligent rearing of their children. Mothers go to clubs, read psychologies about children, take magazines which help them to meet their daily problems, they are constantly imbibing facts on how to train their children, but I wonder if it is the children who truly need training. It seems to me that the first step toward moulding future citizens of honor and integrity is to look at ourselves closely and impartially for a few moments.

How does a little child imbibe training, traits of character, or knowledge? Through words? Words are so new to him, and many of them which we think he understands, only touch the fringe of his comprehension. Actions—our acts daily and hourly—here are the keys to his future behaviour. How we meet each situation which confronts us has more effect upon eager little ears and wide open, all-seeing little eyes than the most pretentious vocabulary composed of phrases popular in psychology. We may tell a child to be honest and truthful, but if we follow these words by answering the telephone and saying Daddy is out, when he is within touching distance of the child, which is he to believe? The action probably. Actions are so much easier to see and understand than were mords. If you tell your child to answer the door and tell Mrs. Brown that you can't go to your club because you have a headache, when the child knows perfectly well that your head does NOT ache, don't punish him in the future for blandly telling you something which you know to be untrue.

We are models, almost idols to our trusting small persons who look to us for judgment, wisdom, love and protection. Children are little mimics, learning the greater portion of their small lessons in life through copying us, and every child who enters school or fares forth by himself when old enough, is but a living sample of the environment from which he comes.

Heredity means little in the character of children. Physical likeness will manifest themselves, but do not bind your child about with a fear that he has inherited a family physical or moral weakness. Statistics have shown that children born of parents who have been thieves and even worse, when placed in wholesome, loving, intelligent surroundings have grown up to be decent, law-abiding adults. Keep the child's home life, his examples of conduct up to the highest standard of which you are capable, and you will not need to spend any anxious moments over his supposedly inherited tendencies to do other than what is right.

ONCE-OVERS

By J. J. MUNDY

WHEN you are tempted to place yourself in a higher level than others it might be well to analyze your reasons.

What have you in the way of mental development or achievement that makes you feel superior?

Wealthy parents and family standing cannot be accredited to you.

If you have advanced and made the most of your environment and your opportunities you may have some things to which you can point with pride.

But if you have not progressed systematically you ought to be ashamed.

The person who has been lifted to honorable position may be able to keep it.

The person who has lifted himself is the one who should be elated.

It has meant a struggle, and denotes brains put to good use.

To have an ideal and constantly make it finer and higher is the way to grow and broaden with the years.

Striving for the best as viewpoint unfolds, arouses to greater effort and higher achievement.

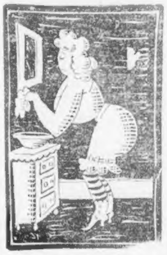
Since 1863



SYNOPSIS—Elsie De Vaux is tortured by jealousy, as her husband, Sir Harry Doncaster, departs to pay what he declares is merely a social call on his old sweetheart, Miss ——, who is a stranger in London.

"THE MISTAKE OF A LIFETIME"

OH, how slowly the hours dragged as Elsie gave herself up to jealous self-torture! Harry must not see her thus—no. She rose and bathed her eyes and tried to busy herself embroidering the tiny garment.

When Harry returned that evening he sat opposite his wife at the tea table and was quite convinced he could repeat his social call to Miss —— without giving his wife a single heart-pang.

Poor, proud Elsie!—Harry does not know how you long to throw your arms about his neck and say: "Oh, never look upon those bright eyes again, dear Harry! Be mine—mine only!"

No—he didn't know that! The spell had begun to work—he was blinded.

Personalities or Principles: Which Should We Consider?

By B. C. FORBES

New York, Aug. 3—What is foremost in your mind when you think of the coming Presidential election? Is it not the two leading candidates, Herbert Hoover and Gov. Smith?

Is it a mistake to put persons ahead of parties, to think more of the personalities of the candidates than the principles they stand for?

B. C. Forbes

That question is raised by Ludwig Stein, president of B. Kuppenheimer & Co., the nationally-known clothing concern.

He writes:

"I have been following your daily newspaper articles appertaining to the effect of the coming Presidential election on business with an avid interest, and, to my knowledge, neither you nor other writers have impressed the public with one point which, to me, is of singular importance.

"Business interests will be served best in the coming election if the American electorate will go to the polls and give approbation to party principles and platforms, and not to individual candidacies or personalities.

"It seems to me that voters should be more desirous of having that party in power which will satisfactorily serve their interests than in elevating to the presidency any single individual because of his personality or accomplishments.

"After the election industry will very largely be governed by the principles and policies of the party in power, yet I venture to say that preceding the election very few voters will give sufficient thought to these policies.

"A more thorough study of the respective merits of each party's platform and its accomplishments over a period of years by business men would be more conducive to industrial progress than 'horn blowing' for any particular candidate because of his political record.

"After all, the will of the legislative body of the nation shall continue to be the law of the land and sound government will only ensue when there is harmonious functioning of the executive, legislative and judicial divisions of our government. If the personal views of the executive are not compatible with those of Congress, there is apt to be unsatisfactory legislative progress.

"I should appreciate hearing any thoughts you may have on this subject."

When I consider purchasing securities, I always want to know the character and caliber of the man or men at the head of an organization. If the president has made a wonderful record, either where he is or before he joined his company, I assume, other things being satisfactory, that he will continue to do well and I consequently buy the securities of his company without misgiving.

On the other hand, although a concern may be making the rosiest of promises, and even a wonderful showing of earnings, I steer clear of its stocks if I find that his record does not appeal to me.

* * *

I confess that I am guilty of what Mr. Stein complains of. After all, the kind of legislation this nation will get during the four years from next March will be influenced more by the man occupying the White House than by any other man in America. It is easy enough to write vote-catching platforms, to make fine sounding speeches of acceptance, and to deliver alluring campaign addresses. But ideas and promises are of little account unless they are put into force. And you must look to men to do that.

The label a man wears is infinitely less important than what the man actually is. Personally, I would rather see the affairs of this commonwealth administered by Democrats of the finest character and caliber than by Republicans of questionable character and caliber; also I would prefer the right type of Republicans to the wrong type of Democrats.

Let us discuss principles and platforms, yes. Yet I think the public will do well to attach great importance, indeed, to individual candidates, their personalities, their principles, their life's record. We are governed by laws, but all our laws are made by men. Therefore, the character of men we elect to make or mold our laws is of the supremest importance. And, as already said, the President of the United States exercises more influence on our law making than any other citizen.

$20,000,000 INVENTION TO MEND HOSE

A new invention for mending silk stockings invisibly and flawlessly is announced by the Gotham Silk Hosiery Company, Inc., which has acquired rights to and ultimate control of the device, which resembles a sewing machine without thread and is electrically driven.

The new machine is expected to reduce the hosiery bill of American womankind by $100,000,000 annually. It is valued at approximately $20,000,000 by the Gotham Company which plans to form a subsidiary for manufacturing and distributing the new device.

S. E. SUMMERFIELD

The $20,000,000 invention is the outgrowth of a visit paid to the Gotham Silk Hosiery Company headquarters office five years ago by two brothers who were working on an electric device for repairing silk stockings. S. E. Summerfield, president, and R. E. Tilles, vice-president, were impressed and grubstaked the inventors, both without funds, privately paying all their expenses during a five-year period of research and development.

This original grubstake has now come back to the officials of the company in the form of a $20,000,000 asset. It will be turned over by them to Gotham free of charge. Gotham was willing to pay the inventors $1,000,000 each for their invention, but the inventors, instead, asked for an opportunity to participate in profits from its use.

BRUSH TAKES JOURNEY IN AIRPLANE

By FRANK H. MELOON, Financial Editor.

Matthew C. Brush, former president of the Boston Elevated and still an "L" official, is best known as president of the big American International Corp., although he is a leading figure in many directorates. Mr. Brush, in the pursuance of his work investigating new fields for finance, has just traveled by airplane from Ogden, Utah, to San Francisco. With his party he is resuming the journey behind the "iron horses" of Texas & Pacific and "Mop." Mr. Brush is a director of both these lines.

President Walter C. Teagle of Standard Oil of New Jersey is again on the high seas today, headed toward Europe. I am told he will discuss with the Soviet authorities the details of adjustment of claims for compensation for confiscated oil properties.

Provident Institution for Savings in the town of Boston, bank with one of the longest names in the world, is old but always ready to adopt good new ideas. Treasurer Robert D. Brewer announces: "During August we expect to install a new system for handling deposits and payments. While this change is being made and until depositors and employes of the bank become accustomed to it, we ask your co-operation if there is delay or confusion in the handling of our business.

"The new system is called 'Alphabetical Unit System.' For example, if your last name is Adams you will always go to the 'A' window, or if your name is Murphy you will always go to the 'M' window whenever you deposit, draw money or want interest added. It will no longer be necessary to leave the counter and remain seated until your name is called. Instead, you will hand in your book with deposit ticket or payment receipt at the proper window—the same window each time you come to the bank—the amount will be entered upon the book and ledger by machine while you stand there, and the book will be returned to you promptly at the same or at an adjoining window.

* * *

"The first time you come in after the new equipment is in place, you will receive at your window a new pass-book in place of the old one, which will be cancelled and returned to you. This change of books will cause a little delay but is necessary in order that all books shall fit into the machines. After you have obtained your new book future transactions will require much less time than formerly."

3—Better pay for honest public service.
4—An airport SECOND TO NONE.
5—Erection of a MUNICIPAL AUDITORIUM to compare with any in the land, in order that Boston, properly supplied with first-class hotels, may be the premier convention city of the U. S. A.

For NEW ENGLAND:
1—Weld the six States into a unit through the activities of the New England Council, thus creating a community consciousness.
2—Promote intercourse with Central and South America, encouraging New Englanders to "turn to the sea" again.
3—Keeping everlastingly at the job of telling the rest of the country all about our unique advantages as Summer and Winter Playground of the Nation.
4—Foster the prosperity of our industries through (1) greater efficiency in production and (2) the use of modern methods in merchandising.
5—Promote in every way such natural resources as forests, water powers and fisheries.
6—Assist New England agriculture to better marketing methods.

"No Official Status"

Unique Plan to Make the Farmer Happy

The State Department of Public Health wants to know whether roadside stands in Massachusetts are all they should be; solely, of course, from the standpoint of those entrusted with the care of the public health.

For this purpose the Department has undertaken what is described in the news columns as a "unique" survey.

"During the remainder of the summer, men and women who have no official status, but who are characterized by Dr. George H. Bigelow as 'proven friends of public health,' will travel up and down the highways of the commonwealth seeking information as to sanitary conditions of roadside stands."

While health is the MAIN object of the survey, we are told, the Department hopes that the information "will also disclose whether the vegetables displayed so attractively on the stands are grown in the neighborhood or are trucked out from the Boston market."

Mr. John A. Rice of Marlboro, appearing six months ago before one of the committees of the Legislature, described 90 per cent of the roadside stands of Massachusetts as "outlets for farm produce grown in the neighborhood."

But what of it? What if the contrary were the rule and 90 per cent of it was trucked out from Boston every morning? The only question that properly concerns the health officer is whether the garden stuff is in good condition and fit for human consumption; and NOT where it comes from.

Walter Prichard Eaton was not far out of the way when, at Springfield last November, he described some of our New England highways as "motor slums." Some roadside stands ARE veritable eyesores, but is there warrant in that fact for turning loose a new crop of snoopers, with "no official status," to go poking their way into the affairs of fruit growers and others?

"Unique," in our opinion, does not begin to describe such meddlesomeness.

The Woman Pays

In This Case for the Wedding Trip

We won't know quite what to think of a recent divorce case at Fitchburg until we have heard from the psychologists, physiologists and sociologists.

It took the lady nearly four years to make up her mind that steps must be taken, but when she told her story to Judge Atwood, in the Probate Court, a bill of divorcement was ready almost as soon as the clerk could fill it in.

Her complaint was that although her second husband PLANNED the wedding tour to California, SHE bought the railroad tickets and paid the hotel bills.

The gentleman, give him credit, furnished the time-tables and folders.

Living in Fitchburg, where they MAKE good bicycles, he might have emulated the boy in the song, who implored "Daisy" to "give me your answer, true":

It won't be stylish marriage,
I can't afford a carriage;
But you'll look sweet,
On the seat
Of a bicycle built for two.

Massachusetts, which is not given to calling old things by new names, displays no more real interest in trial or "companionate" marriage than it pays to the two-headed boy at the circus, or any other freak.

It may be because we ARE so old-fashioned in the Bay State that the number of divorces is decreasing. Year before last, they numbered 3007, a drop of proportions, in spite of the fact that the country as a whole showed an increase.

The chief cause of divorce, we are told, is "cruelty"; the next most popular reason, "desertion."

This is the first time a bill of divorcement has been given because the wife had to pay for the wedding trip.

If she were a good sport, appellant would have taken appellee on a "Mexican tour"—travel, sightseeing, hotel reservations AND divorce decree for one price.

The suit was uncontested. When he has had time to think it over the ex-husband MAY come in and ask for alimony. That, we can hear the ladies say, "would be just like him."

MILK SUPPLY MUST BE KEPT PURE

By DR. FRANK CRANE

MILK is perhaps the most ideal food for a human being. It is our only food in infancy and a food too little used by adults. It has been called "the perfect food."

It is a food, however, that is hard to keep, for it readily spoils at too great a temperature.

We have preserved all other kinds of foods, we have salted fish, canned vegetables and fruit, canned meat and smoked ham.

In 1851 a man went to England with a meat biscuit he had invented. On the ship on which he traveled there were cows to give fresh milk. At that time most vessels resembled floating barnyards, that is, most vessels that pretended to give human comfort. The inventor observed on his return trip home in the summer that the cows were seasick, the milk was bad and many babies died.

Coming home he devised a process of drying milk and canning it. After much difficulty the enterprise was successful.

It grew to great proportions during the Civil War, when the government bought the entire output of his factories.

Since then preserved milk has been a boon to all explorers whether in the frozen regions of the north or in darkest Africa.

Herbert Hoover preserved the lives and health of some 1,200,000 Belgian children by condensed milk.

Our own Mr. Strauss has proved himself a public benefactor by supplying pure milk for babies.

Any traveler in Europe is familiar with the dirty milk that is supplied everywhere from milkmen's cans. These have been replaced almost entirely in America by the bottle.

Still about 6,000,000 children in the United States between the ages of 2 and 14 are undernourished. They are stunted for lack of proper food, usually for lack of milk. The various companies handling milk have done much good by disseminating knowledge as to the value of pure milk. Pure milk has as much to do with preventing infant mortality as any other one thing. In China, years ago, when they had plenty of cows, they created a great civilization, now that they have cut down their forests and eaten their cows they kill as many babies as they raise. You cannot bring up a child, with success, on tea.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

I SHALL try to write my thanks to mountains.

There are people who prefer the long roll of the sea, but a mountain can lift and fire me—and gentle me—as the sea never can.

There is so much to a mountain—so much more than a great heave of earth. Just as there is so much more to any real strength than mere strength.

There are secret places in mountains, like lovely little altars—

There are wide, calm meadows, where grief and fear and doubt and pettiness drop away and you are left alone and quiet with Life—

There are lakes, like the deep, cool places of the soul—

And tangled trails that beckon on and on—

And arid stretches, gaunt and terrible, where storms have struggled for a mastery—scarred stretches, yet somehow nobler and more beautiful than all the pretty, flowered paths—

There are voices to mountains—

Whispers and wailings—chucklings and boomings—great gusts of longing and rebellion—tiny shruggings and adjustings which go on within the mass and some day change the whole story—and thousands of homely, common sounds that chatter like friendly tongues.

And there are moods to mountains—

Deep, purple moods when clouds spread their dark pall—

And golden moods, when sunrise fires spill—

And wistful moods, as frail as gossamer—

And savage moods when the great canyons fill with boiling flood and the tall peaks rear black against the sky.

And there is silence in a mountain—the silence of a soul reposing in itself.

I wish I could give myself up to the silence of a mountain. I wish I could stretch myself upon its top and let my discontent slip back into the mother earth. Once more to see the fog banks lift and part—once more to hear the thunders as they speed. I would like, when all is over, to go up as Moses did. Take my weary, dusty body back into the clean, strong mountains—high and higher toward the starlight—and find some peace upon the mountain.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By ALINE MICHAELIS

SOMETIMES I find new tasks await
My slender strength, and yet, elate,
I welcome one and all;
For I have learned each deed I do,
Each friend I make will let me through
New gateways, great or small.

No longer now do I deplore
The hardships which I feared before,
For since I see aright
Life's every contact has revealed
An entrance to some sun-bright field,
Some vista of delight.

I pass new gateways and I go
Into strange realms I could not know
Before this toil was met;
With joy I greet each trust, each need
And in it see a gate to lead
To gardens fairer yet.

New York Day by Day

by O.O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—Thoughts while strolling: A maid pinning a rose on a policeman. Cowboys from the Liggett ranches. Quite a number are using Argentine co-respondents this season. Those boys who talk in elevators about market winnings. And the inarticulate who can only say "O. K."

Dean Cornwell, a Louisville, Ky., boy, who made good in the city. The hub-bub around a railroad terminal. Bedizened with hotels and pullulating—do you care for that?—with tourists. More signs that you can't do this and you can't do that. Oh, to live with no meddling restrictions and a jug of wine or something or other.

Antiseptic lipsticks. That irritating stride of athletic girls. Military chauffeurs who receive orders with a salute and click of heels and do as they please. A hatless Chinese with horn-rimmed glasses. A little old lady scolds a newsboy for swearing. And he blushes.

The hotels advertised as home-like where you are known as numbers. Eva Steinmetz, the fashion designer. Cops who ride around in flivvers and always seem huffy about "We do not sell anything to our customers until we are sold on it ourselves."

Fat women who hold their hands over the dials of weight machines. An alert dignity about New York bank employees. The mournful wail of a crate of bawling calves. Poor little fellers. Overdressed girls chewing gum. Underfed men who pay the bills. Mark Hellenger the tabloid columnist.

A shepherd dog carrying a canary in a cage. Everybody in society is opening a specialty shop. Whatever became of hoarhound candy? A man with a buggy whip. He'd have a time finding a horse to use it on in this village.

Japs who open those home cooking tea rooms painted a peacock blue. A store specializing in wind instruments. Butlers who seem horror-stricken if you stop to tie your shoe at their doorsteps. The ever curious crowd around a piano hoisting. But after all a rope does break now and then.

AN elegant little neighborhood movie house in the Fabulous Fifties is adopting the elegant manner of cafes which have menus only in French to attract a class clientele. They hang banners of their attractions in French and the ticket seller has a decided French accent. And the pictures are usually terrible.

THE king of old shoe savers has been found. He is a New Yorker who could afford a half dozen pairs of new shoes every day. Yet in moving from one mansion to be torn down to a $300,000 co-operative apartment it was found he has 316 pairs of old shoes. He is a heavy donor to charity, but is miserly when it comes to parting with discarded boots. There is some inherent kink in almost every man that makes giving old shoes away a distinct personal loss. It has caused more family quarrels than any domestic difference save drink and money. Don't ask how I know.

INDEED almost all sorts of wearing apparel takes on quality that makes its association pleasant and we part with it with a sigh. The King of Spain is said to have a pair of house slippers that are a left over from his school days and takes them with him wherever he goes. Every man has something or other of a similar nature he clings to in this fashion. And if somebody writes me "Who cares?" I won't blame them.

THE most embarrassing incident in a life of embarrassments took place on a street corner this morning. A man I had not seen in a number of years stopped to shake hands. He looked prosperous, and I commented. But in the midst of his grandiose story of success another man came up and berated him soundly for failing to return $20 he had borrowed five weeks ago. I never longed so for a window to lean out.

Nice German Family

We print it because it is our idea of A FINE FAMILY.

The lady, with common sense that causes her to show her intelligent forehead, and draw back her hair, is the wife of Major von Hindenburg, daughter-in-law of the President of the German Republic. The two pleasant little girls are her daughters, fine, well brought up little German girls. The little boy is Hans von Brockhausen, son of President Hindenburg's oldest daughter.

There are millions of such children, millions of such sensible, devoted German wives and mothers. Because they exist, no defeat could ruin that country.

Not even cruel starvation to which the children were subjected for five years—in Germany, as they were in some of the Allied countries—could destroy such national value as this.

Good mothers, earnest children, good education, serious thought, determination to live down the past and build up the future.

All that you see in the face of this good mother, and in the faces of the children.
